

AIRTIME and Toucari announce Software Reseller Agreement

Toucari to resell A4P product suite, providing law firm clients with mobile time capture software.

10 December 2008

Silver Spring, MD, USA. AIRTIME-Manager, the leading provider of mobile and wireless time capture technology today announced that Toucari, a UK provider of innovative products and services for the legal industry, has signed an agreement to become authorised reseller of AIRTIME products.

AIRTIME developed its core offering to help lawyers and other professionals capture accurate time records from mobile phone calls and e-mails on BlackBerry and other mobile devices assigning them immediately to client projects and matters. After each call or email made using a mobile device, A4P raises a note and prompt to bill the time. A4P-Enterprise remembers billing matters for each contact, making it possible to bill many events with a single click, users can also search or scroll through open projects for the appropriate billing matter using their mobile device. Once billed, the time entry is automatically posted to back office financial and practice management systems such as Elite, Carpe Diem, CMS, Omega and many others. This process helps organisations to bill their clients with increased accuracy and transparency.

Law firms and professional services companies in many other markets need to manage and control the level of time recorded and billed for employees especially as they spend more of their work time out of the traditional office setting reliant on mobile devices and technology.

"We are very pleased to be able to offer the AIRTIME product suite to our customers" said Tony Bland, Managing Director of Toucari. "AIRTIME software has been leading the market for mobile time capture in America for some time and recently our customers began asking for tools to help track billable time on mobile devices with more accuracy and immediacy than before. AIRTIME has a good number of satisfied clients and a great track record for delivering this kind of technology so it was a fantastic opportunity to be able to partner with them and deliver their software to our clients".

Through the partnership Toucari will offer AIRTIME software, implementation and support services to existing and prospective clients.

About AIRTIME

AIRTIME-Manager was formed in 2003 for the express purpose of developing and delivering innovative time-tracking and billing applications, with services aimed at professional and commercial wireless users.

Recently cited by Gartner, Inc. as a "Cool Vendor" in Human Capital Management, AIRTIME-Manager is shaping the way business leaders think about managing an increasingly mobile and connected workforce.

About Toucari

Toucari is a product and services company operating primarily in the legal and professional services industries. Toucari helps its customers to improve their business technology systems by developing solutions to difficult problems, identifying new strategies and maximising the value of IT investments.

Contact:

AIRTIME

Kirk Fackre
E-mail - kfackre@airtimemanager.com
Phone - +1 978 626 1260

Toucari

Tony Bland
E-mail – tony@toucari.com
Phone - +44 7525 987173